The Story of...

Mia Galison started eeBoo in a basement apartment with the goal of creating wonderful children's products and spending plenty of time with her young family and husband, Saxton Freymann (author and illustrator of the Play With Your Food series). eeBoo has since grown, from one product to hundreds, from a basement to a magically renovated ballroom office, from one staff member to fourteen.

Many things, however, have stayed the same: Mia still spares no expense in design, illustration or production and has never rushed a project out the door if she didn't love it. The eeBoo office is full of hand made prototypes, vintage toys, and crafting supplies; evidence of eeBoo's hands-on creative team. The result is a unique and thoughtful line of toys and activities that through non-directed and intergenerational play, encourages creative thinking, learning by looking, imagination, literacy, problem solving, and basic skills.

Over the years, eeBoo has been awarded over 200 Oppenheim Toy Awards, as well as 16 SNAP awards (Special Needs Adaptable). eeBoo products are thoroughly safety tested, durable, and designed to be enjoyed with family and friends.
